ENLISTS WOMEN FOR NEW FIGHTS

G. O. P. Gets Campaign
Train for Illinois and Kansas

By ERNESTINE EVANS

On Board the Women's National Campaign Train for Hughes, Colorado Springs, Oct. 25.—Three heavily attended meetings in Colorado Springs filled the first day of the last part of the women's trip. The rest of it is to be spent in completing the organization of Republican women in Kansas and Illinois. Alvin Hart, Western Republican manager, in a telegram to Miss Frances Kellor, asking the women to work for four days in Kansas and three in Illinois, emphasized his appreciation of the campaign train and its work.

James R. Garfield told Miss Kellor last night that for the first time the Presidential situation was in great measure in the hands of the women. The balance of power in Illinois, Colorado and Kansas and largely in Washington and Arizona, Western managers of both parties frankly admit lies with them. This situation is encouraging the Republicans.

The special arrived here at 8 a. m. and was met by a committee of fifty headed by Mrs. Spencer Penrose, who was in charge of the breakfast and reception.

An enthusiastic audience of eight hundred heard Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughnessy's report to "He kept us out of war."

"I, too, like many another," she said, "have a husband and a son. But I know that my husband and my son belong first to God, second to their country and last of all to me. And I firmly believe that when the women of a country take any other view some essential virtue has gone out of the nation."

Mrs. Raymond Robins in attacking the Adamson law as a betrayal of the weaker labor groups said: "The Adamson law is not an eight-hour law. Both Mr. Garretson, president of the national organization of conductors, and Ellisha Lee, chairman of the railroad managers, have stated publicly that there will be no eight-hour day until punitive overtime has been stipulated by law, and this the Adamson bill does not do. It is merely the first minimum wage law enacted for men."

"The Adamson law is a surrender. It is class legislation. We who know the labor problems of our country intimately look to Mr. Hughes and to Mr. Hughes alone as the man of integrity and courage needed to face justly the seething domestic issues of our midst."

Dr. Katharine B. Davis addressed the audience on nationalism. Mayor McKesson of Colorado Springs presided, and District Judge Horace Lunt made the address of welcome.

37 THEOLOGUES CHALLENGED

Must Show Cause Before They Can
Cast Votes

Thirty-seven solemn young men marched into the office of the State Superintendent of Elections last night, each bearing a subpoena. They were students from the General Theological Seminary, and they had been summoned to show cause why they should be permitted to vote. They explained that most of them had lived the necessary length of time in state, county and district.

Since the law requires that theological students file at the time of registration a statement showing their actual domicile, an appeal will be made to-day to have the thirty-seven names stricken from the list.

WHITMAN DENIES 2 SEABURY ITEMS

Didn't Overload Payrolls to Build Machine, He Tells Audiences

[From a Staff Correspondent of The Tribune.]
Rochester, Oct. 25.—Governor Whitman made formal answer in his speeches to-day to two of the nine-teen allegations made by Samuel Seabury in his bill of particulars filed in response to the Governor's demand that he be specific in his charges against the administration.

"These particulars in my opponent's open letter to me," said the Governor when shown Mr. Seabury's reply, "are for the most part trivial. The two regarding the direct tax, and those having to do with the Highways Department, the Court of Claims and the workmen's compensation act I have already dealt with, explaining them fully, as he knows. The others I shall deal with shortly."

Within an hour after the Governor made this statement he addressed a meeting in Lowellville and replied to the charges that since he went into office three thousand new places had been created, and that he could have saved the state $13,852,948 by vetoing items aggregating that amount as proposed by the tax reduction committee.

"My opponent," said the Governor, "is quoted as saying that I have overloaded the payrolls to give offices to political favorites to build up a machine. That statement is no more true than many others he has made during this campaign. There are just 934 fewer persons drawing money from the state to-day than in 1914. I understand my opponent has pretended to contradict this assertion, but he can only say: 'It is not so,' without presenting any substantial proof. I have the facts and the figures to prove it, all compiled from official sources."

"Under my administration you have only to turn to Chapter 646 of the laws of 1916 and the position of every state employee is set forth there for the first time in the history of the state."

Answering the charge that he could have saved $13,852,948, the Governor said that one of these items was for a sum in excess of $5,000,000 which the constitution demanded should be paid into the sinking fund. "I would have been violating my oath of office to veto that appropriation," he said.

The night was the largest since he started his campaign. More than five thousand lined the streets through which the parade headed by the Governor passed on the way from the train to the Darling Theatre, where he repeated his Lowellville speech.

FIGHT FOR STIER'S PLACE

Democrats go to Court to Get Candidate on Ballot

Philip Frank, an attorney, of Long Island City, representing Dr. Arthur Keating, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic party of Queens, announced yesterday he would ask the Supreme Court to-day for an order compelling the Board of Elections to show cause why they should not accept the nomination of Samuel T. Mitchell, Under Sheriff of Queens, as a candidate for Sheriff.

Sheriff Paul Stier was killed while attempting to serve a warrant at Whitestone Landing on Monday. Edward F. Boyle, president of the Board of Elections, refused to accept the certificate on the ground that the time for filing nominations expired at midnight, October 18. So far, the Republicans have made no move to nominate a man to succeed Stier.

SEABURY ADDS TO HIS CHARGES

Accuses Whitman of Waste and Lack of Discipline
in Rochester Speech

[From a Staff Correspondent of The Tribune.]
Rochester, Oct. 25.—Judge Samuel Seabury to-night amplified his general charge of wastefulness in the Whitman administration by specifically charging waste in the civil service and asserting that Governor Whitman had shown himself incapable of maintaining discipline in departments under his control.

"Last night," said Mr. Seabury, speaking to an audience of 3,000 in Convention Hall, "I made nineteen specific charges, which the Governor must answer, if he can, or stand convicted of the incompetence, extravagance and wastefulness of which I accuse him. I hope the people will familiarize themselves with these charges in order that they may be able to judge of their seriousness, and the sufficiency of his explanation, should he offer one."

"As charge No. 20, I assert that the present employment conditions prevailing in the civil service exhibit wholesale waste and extravagance. This charge is borne out by the report of the Horton civil service committee, controlled by the Governor's political friends." Then Mr. Seabury proceeded to quote from the committee's report.

Governor Ignored Warning
"The committee, after an exhaustive investigation," he continued, "brought to the Governor's attention, on April 9, 1915, the fact that $2,000,000 of public money was being wasted. Although another Legislature has since been held, he did nothing to remedy this situation. On the contrary, he increased the personnel service cost of government."

"I shall insist on a fundamental reorganization," Governor Whitman has shown neither the inclination nor the courage to undertake this great work. As charge 21 I assert that Governor Whitman has proved himself incapable of maintaining discipline in the state departments. On February 3, 1916, he complained, in a special message to the Legislature, in which he tried to extenuate the facts, that he had warned his appointees that they must keep within their appropriations."

"In spite of this warning," he added, "I found at the opening of the session that several had already exceeded their appropriations and were applying for deficiency items."

Has No Cause to Complain

"Did Governor Whitman remove any of these disobedient officials?" He did not. He says that his appointees must incur deficiencies and then he lets them incur deficiencies. He says that deficiency appropriation bills are vicious in principle and then he approves deficiency bills amounting to nearly $2,000,000. Can Governor Whitman complain if the people of New York refuse to take him seriously when his own appointees do not? It is too much to say of Governor Whitman that many others he has made during this campaign. There are just 934 fewer persons drawing money from the state to-day than in 1914. I understand my opponent has pretended to contradict this assertion, but he can only say: 'It is not so,' without presenting any substantial proof. I have the facts and the figures to prove it, all compiled from official sources."

PERMITS BELATED SOLDIERS TO VOTE

Justice Cohalan Orders Registration Lists Reopened

Justice Cohalan rendered a decision yesterday which will permit the 2,000 or more National Guardsmen who returned from the Mexican border after the registration lists were closed to vote. In a proceeding brought by Major Cornelius Vanderbilt and Edward R. Whittingham, a private, he ordered the Board of Elections to accept the registration of the Guardsmen. This will make it necessary for the boards in the election districts where such men live to meet again.

There was no objection by the Attorney General, representing the Secretary of State, or the Corporation Counsel, for the Board of Elections. The latter body, however, takes the view that each belated Guardsman must procure a specific order from the court.

OSBORNE LAYS PRISON SCANDAL TO WHITMAN

Sends Letter to Governor Accusing Him of Breaking Pledge

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Thomas Mott Osborne to-night made public an open letter to Governor Charles S. Whitman, in which he charges that the state's Executive is the chief cause of the persecution to which he has been subjected.

Mr. Osborne's reasons for the charges are given at length in incidents on specific dates, which, he claims, substantiate his charges. He sums them up as follows:

"First, in that you did not support me when attacked by Superintendent (of prisons) Riley, as you promised and as it was your duty to do."

"Second, in that you did not attempt to appoint a commission to really investigate Sing Sing, as you promised and as it was your duty to do."

"Third, in that you did not exercise your official power to discourage the attack upon a state officer in the faithful discharge of his duty, but, on the contrary, gave encouragement to the Westchester County officials in creating one of the most detestable scandals that have disgraced the State of New York."

LABOR HEARS T. R. IN CHICAGO TODAY

Colonel Preaches Americanism to Nebraskans—
To Hit 8-Hour Law

[From a Staff Correspondent of The Tribune.]
On Board Colonel Roosevelt's Private Car, Kearney, Neb., Oct. 25.—His southwestern drive for Hughes completed, Colonel Roosevelt is speeding across Nebraska and Iowa, en route to Chicago, where he is scheduled to address two meetings to-morrow.

The Colonel is satisfied that his answers to Wilson hecklers at Denver last night furnished a smashing end to his assault in New Mexico and Arizona on the President's Mexican policy. He is also satisfied that Americanism must be the keynote of his appeal for Hughes as he approaches the Middle West.

To-day his several talks from the rear platform of his car dealt exclusively with the Lusitania incident and his belief in righteous war. He seldom mentioned the Adamson law.

James R. Garfield, Secretary of the Interior when Roosevelt was President, and Republican manager for the suffragists, says that the Colonel's straightforward talk to 8,000 women of Colorado yesterday afternoon will have a direct effect in swinging votes for Hughes.

In the Auditorium Theatre, where the last convention of the late Progressive party was held, Mr. Roosevelt will speak to-morrow afternoon to the women of Chicago. He will enlarge on his Denver answer to the Democratic claim that "President Wilson has kept us out of war." Mr. Roosevelt will explain the Adamson law to workmen at the Stockyards Pavilion to-morrow night, unless he receives other instructions from Republican Headquarters in New York.

In an effort to save his voice for the morrow the Colonel made few platform speeches to-day. When a few hours out of Denver, he told a small crowd at Fort Morgan, Colo., that he felt more proud at his appointment as Deputy Sheriff in the "short-grass" country than he did later when elected President. At Julesburg he was again reminded of his experiences as deputy sheriff under "Hell Roaring" Bill Jones, thirty-three years ago. With two other deputies he was sent out to catch a horse thief. After a long chase they met their man within fifty miles of Julesburg, then one of the roughest towns in the West, the Colonel said.

The Colonel paid no attention to three girls who heckled him softly with half-hearted cries of "Hurrah for Wilson."

WILSON TO SPEAK HERE ON NOV. 4

President, Changing Plans,
Will Be Guest of College
Men's League

Another change of the campaign plans of President Wilson were announced yesterday under which he will make his final appearance before election in New York November 4 at a banquet to be tendered to him by the Woodrow Wilson College Men's League. It is planned to have Judge Seabury, William F. McCombs and Irvin S. Cobb speak at the affair, which will be given at the Biltmore.

Many New York women campaigners for President Wilson who ordinarily drive about the city in their own cars are using the subway or walking during the final prediction activities. According to a statement issued from Democratic headquarters yesterday, Miss Grace Strachan and Mrs. Martin W. Littleton are among the women who yesterday turned their automobiles over to Democratic speakers, to be used in upstate tours until after Election Day.

HEAD FOR ELECTION FRAUD PROBE PICKED

Gregory Sends Investigator West
at Senator Taggart's Request

Washington, Oct. 25.—So many reports of election frauds in the Middle West have reached the Department of Justice that Attorney General Gregory today appointed Frank C. Dailey, of Indianapolis, former United States District Attorney, as special assistant to the Attorney General in charge of investigations and prosecutions of election law violations in Indiana, Ohio and Illinois.

Mr. Dailey's designation followed conferences which Attorney General Gregory had with him and with Senator Taggart, of Indiana. It also follows a mysterious trip of Assistant Attorney General Graham last week, about which information was refused at the Department of Justice at the time. Mr. Graham had charge of the Washington end of the investigation.

Neither Senator Taggart nor Mr. Dailey was willing to discuss the situation. It was stated at the department that there will be no politics in the investigation and that any Democratic offenders will be dealt with as rigidly as those of any other party.

Battery B Arrives Home

Battery B, 1st New York Field Artillery, under command of Captain Walter C. McClure, arrived here last night from McAllen, Tex., where the regiment has been on border duty.

OHIO BY 50,000, G.O.P. PREDICTION

Ford's Influence Being
Felt by Michigan
Republicans

The Ohio situation was discussed at length by Chairman William R. Willcox of the Republican National Committee and R. K. Hynicka, National Committeeman from the Buckeye State, yesterday. Charles B. Warren, Republican National Committeeman from Michigan, was present, and the two were with Mr. Willcox for about two hours. Mr. Willcox said that he was confident that Mr. Hughes would give Mr. Hynicka said afterward they were confident that "President Wilson has kept us out of war."

Mr. Hynicka discounted the reports of bad Republican conditions. "We are plugging along with all confidence of what Ohio will do in November," said Mr. Hynicka. "Ohio will give Hughes at least 50,000. I wouldn't be surprised to see a Republican majority of 100,000. We are not at all disturbed over any of the issues raised by the Democrats. The reports of bad conditions in the state seem mainly to be a source of worry to the newspapers. Ohio has become an industrial state instead of an agricultural state, and the real big issue with us is protection."

Mr. Warren said Michigan was safely Republican. It is understood, however, that the Republican leaders there are facing harder work on account of the increasing activities of Henry Ford. The automobile maker is said to have set all his agents hard at work for Wilson and to have begun an extensive poster and newspaper advertising campaign. The Ford influence is expected to be felt also in Ohio, Indiana and even Illinois.

The Republican National Committee started an extensive billboard campaign yesterday. As an answer to the Democratic poster depicting a mother and child with the picture of President Wilson in the corner and the slogan "He has protected me and mine," the Republicans put out 2,500 large posters with the picture of the President and the slogan "He has neglected me and mine."

MRS. KEENE LEFT FORTUNE TO CHILDREN

Will Divides $4,000,000 Between
Foxhall Keene and Sister

Mineola, Long Island, Oct. 25.—Disposition of an estate estimated to be worth $4,000,000, the will of Sara J. Keene, widow of James R. Keene, was filed for probate in the Surrogate's office here to-day. Under its terms her son, Foxhall P. Keene, receives one-half of the estate outright, and the other half is left in trust for his sister, Mrs. Jessica Keene Frost, of Ayer, Mass.

The will was dated May 12, 1911, and left the entire estate in trust for her husband, the late James R. Keene. After his death it was to be divided between the son and daughter.

Schumann-Heink sings at Carnegie Hall October 30

Hear this famous Victor artist!

This Schumann-Heink recital is an event of importance to the music-loving public. It presents the unique opportunity of a direct personal observation of her exquisite interpretations for comparative consideration with her historic Victor Records.

Attend the concert and hear this most glorious and sympathetic of true contralto voices, being particularly careful to observe the individual characteristics that so plainly identify the Schumann-Heink voice.

Then go to any Victor dealer's and hear the Victor Records by Schumann-Heink. You will be instantly convinced that on the Victrola her art and personality are brought to you with unerring truth.

It is this absolute fidelity that has established the supremacy of the Victrola; that caused Schumann-Heink to decide to make records only for the Victor; that has attracted into the ranks of Victor exclusive talent the greatest artists of all the world.
